

HOME RULE

Passes House of Commons and Ireland Again Becomes a Nation.

Regains Her Parliament After a Struggle Lasting Over a Century.

William O'Brien and His Followers Abstained From Voting.

STATEMENT ISSUED BY REDMOND

By a vote of 351 to 274—a majority of seventy-seven—the House of Commons passed the home rule bill. Under the provisions of the bill, Ireland will be a separate nation, and the House of Commons will have no further effect. When the bill was sent up to the House of Lords it was accompanied by a group of jubilant Nationalists, who sang the official hymn of the bill and sang "God Save Ireland." The House of Lords afterward formally read the bill a first time.

The end of the hard fought struggle came suddenly, the Unionists refusing to debate the bill without further information as to the Government's intentions in regard to the proposed amending measure. Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, intimated an appeal to the country was not far off and added: "Let the curtain ring down on this contemptible farce. It is only the end of an act and not of the play. The Government can carry the bill through Parliament, but the concluding act of the drama will be in the country, where an appeal to the people will not end in a farce."

Premier Asquith defended the Government against the charge of ignoring the rights of the minority and explained that he was introducing an amending bill not because he thought that the Irish home rule measure was bad or imperfect, but because he was anxious for peace. The vote was then taken and the announcement of the figures brought out a great demonstration by the Nationalists and the Liberals. They rose from their seats, cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs. The division was taken strictly on party lines. The followers of William O'Brien abstained from voting. O'Brien expressing the view that "the Premier's action was not straight dealing either with England or Ireland."

John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, in a statement says the division in the House of Commons is equivalent to the passage of the home rule bill into law, and expresses the earnest hope that the Ulsterites, "who are genuinely nervous as to their position, will abandon unreasonable demands and enter into conciliatory discussions with their fellow countrymen with regard to the points of the bill upon which they desire further safeguards. Today's division," says Redmond, "marks the death after an inglorious history of the 114 years of the union of Pitt and Castlereagh. Its place is to be taken by a new union founded on mutual respect and good will between the two islands." Proceeding the Nationalist leader declares that only two eventualities, both of them impossible, could prevent the bill from becoming a statute within a few weeks—the first, that the Parliamentary session should come to an abrupt end; the second, that the House of Commons should suddenly go mad and decide not to submit the bill for royal assent—both as absurd contingencies as the suggestion that the King would withhold his assent.

Mr. Redmond then said: "I say on behalf of the Nationalists of Ireland that we desire their co-operation and friendship, and I appeal to them to join hands with us in making the home rule settlement one to insure the prosperity and freedom of all classes in the country."

Concerning the amending bill, Redmond says: "If it contains the terms of an agreement whereby some of our fellow countrymen in the North, who are now dissatisfied and nervous about the future, will be conciliated and does not outrage the fundamental principles of the home rule settlement I am convinced that every Nationalist in Ireland will rejoice. If the amending bill does not contain such an agreement I see no prospect of it becoming a law. In any case, failing an agreement, the Irish party have made it plain that their hands are free to deal with any proposals that may be made. The great thing for us to remember is that, amending bill or no amending bill, home rule is now practically an act of Parliament."

Now that the home rule bill has been passed, public interest has shifted and concentrated on Ulster province. The big question of the hour is: "What will Ulster do now that the home rule bill has been enacted without any amendment guaranteeing the exclusion of Ulster from its provisions?" If Sir Edward Carson, Capt. James Craig and other leaders of the anti-home rule Orangemen put into execution the threats they have made and reiterated during the last few months, civil war will follow in the North of Ireland.

Dispatches say that peace and quiet reigns throughout Ireland, the passing of the bill not causing trouble anywhere. The predictions made so freely by certain Unionists that its final adoption by the House of Commons would be followed by fierce outbursts in Ulster and sanguinary conflicts between the Orangemen and Nationalists have failed thus far. The authorities, civil and military, are keeping a careful watch and trains are held at stations with steam up in readiness to rush troops or armed police wherever they might be needed to suppress riots, which nearly everybody thought were bound to occur. Meanwhile, many Unionists declare that it is only the storm which presages a fierce storm, and that, failing the defeat of the Government at a general election, civil war looms ahead as a certainty. A curious feature of the situation is that the Unionist leaders are now claiming that the Ulster volunteers are preserving peace in Ulster.

MOURN HER DEATH.

It is with deep regret that the Kentucky Irish American reports the death of Miss Annie O'Donoghue, aged thirty-seven, niece of the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville. Miss O'Donoghue was stricken with pulmonary trouble ten weeks ago and was taken to Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, where she passed peacefully away on Friday night, despite the love and care of the Sisters and everything known to medical science. For many years she had made her home with the Bishop, and since the death of her sister, some months ago, she had been the housekeeper at his residence, where her pleasing and affable manner won the affection and endeared her to all callers. Sunday morning her remains were shipped to Cannelburg, Ind., her girlhood home, for burial. May her soul rest in peace is the prayer of her many friends.

IMPORTANT AMENDMENT.

In order to keep pace with the high cost of living, as expressed in S. J. Tribble, of Division 4, A. O. H., introduced an amendment to the by-laws of that body to raise the monthly individual dues in order to also increase the amount of the weekly sick benefit, the resolution to be acted on at the next meeting, June 8, and the action of the division is being awaited with much interest by the other divisions of the city. County President W. J. Connelly was present and spoke of the national convention of the order, which will be held in Norfolk, Va., beginning Tuesday, July 21, and State President F. J. Welsh the only two delegates to go from Louisville. Capt. Fergus Kennedy, who was injured in a recent fire, was reported as doing nicely, also Joseph Meehan, who was operated on for appendicitis at Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital last week.

ORPHAN SOCIETY.

The next meeting of the newly organized Catholic Orphan Society will be held Monday night in Bertrand Hall on Sixth street. At this meeting will be received the representatives of the parish branches organized during the past two weeks. The reports received by the Central officers are very encouraging, and indicate that the society will have a large membership. Chairman Thomas Tarry will report what has been done for the Fourth of July picnic and a number of special committees will be named.

INITIATION TOMORROW.

Tomorrow afternoon Louisville Council Knights of Columbus, will hold an initiation at the club house on Fourth street, when the degrees will be conferred on a large class. After the initiatory ceremonies are concluded there will be a banquet at the Louisville Hotel. Robert G. Wulff will preside as toastmaster, and indicate that the society will have a large membership. Chairman Thomas Tarry will report what has been done for the Fourth of July picnic and a number of special committees will be named.

LITERARY CLUB MEETING.

Members of the Literary Club of the Knights of Columbus are looking forward with pleasure to the forthcoming meeting on Friday, June 19. Instead of meeting at the club house on Fourth avenue they will meet at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mapother, 151 Vernon avenue. Raymond Shaw will present a paper on "Macbeth," and Dr. J. W. Fowler's poem "Frederick's Bay" will be recited.

EUCHE IN HOME.

The Hibernian Social Club, which is an adjunct of Division 3, A. O. H., will give a eucue and lotto next Tuesday evening in their new club house, 1818 Portland avenue, the proceeds to be used toward defraying the expenses incurred in purchasing the place, and a large attendance is expected from those interested in the success of this hustling organization. Games will be called by the committee of arrangements as Thomas A. Quinn, Matt J. O'Brien, John M. Riley and George J. Butler.

LEXINGTON.

James Savage, aged forty-three, a well known and prosperous Lexington grocer, died Saturday night at 534 West Third street, the residence of his mother, with whom he made his home. His death was caused by valvular heart disease, and came as a shock to his friends and acquaintances, by whom he was highly respected. Surviving him are two brothers, Michael and William Savage, and three sisters, Mrs. John Minor, Mrs. Philip Minor and Miss Mollie Savage.

ORDINATION.

Hundreds of Young Men Will Be Elevated to Dignity of the Priesthood.

Brief Explanation of Ceremonies That Will Interest Their Friends.

Spend Years in Diligent Preparation For Their Sacred Office.

INVESTED WITH TWOFOLD POWER

During the next month hundreds of young men who have completed their education in the seminaries of the United States and Europe will be elevated to the dignity of the priesthood. A brief explanation of the ordination ceremonies will doubtless be of interest to our readers who number among their friends those who have spent years in diligent preparation for this sacred office. The young candidate, having previously received tonsure, the four minor orders, the major orders of sub-deacon and deaconship, now presents himself for ordination to the priesthood. Vested in amice, alb, maniple and stole, bearing the chasuble upon the left arm, and a lighted candle in the right hand, he proceeds to the sanctuary. The deacons to be promoted to the priesthood are presented to the Bishop by the archdeacon with the following bequest: "Most Reverend Father, our holy mother, the Catholic church, asks that you would ordain the deacons here present to the burden of the priesthood." The Bishop replies: "Do you know whether they are worthy?" The archdeacon answers: "As much as human frailty permits. I know and testify that they are worthy to receive the burden of this office."

To express his joy and gratification at this good testimony, the ordaining prelate answers: "Thanks be to God." This question of the Bishop is put to the archdeacon because, in the primitive church, it was the duty of the archdeacon to watch over the junior clergy, and hence knew who among them were worthy of promotion. The office of archdeacon no longer exists in this regard and today the rector of the seminary is obliged to answer concerning the worthiness of the candidate. Not contented with the answer of the archdeacon, the Bishop turns toward all those present, both priests and laymen, and says to them that he is about to promote those kneeling before him to the priesthood, and that if any one has anything to allege against any one of the candidates he may freely declare it. No objections being raised, the Bishop then proceeds to admonish the candidates of the duties and functions of the priesthood and exhorts them to discharge them faithfully.

Those to be ordained then prostrate themselves in the sanctuary and the Litany of the Saints is chanted. Toward the end of the litany the Bishop, having put on his mitre and taken his crozier, turns toward those prostrated and prays, "That thou wouldst vouchsafe to bless, sanctify and consecrate these elect, we beseech thee, hear us." When the litany has been chanted the candidates rise and the imposition of hands takes place. Accordingly the Bishop first, and then all the priests present, one after another, lay both of their hands on the head of each of the candidates successively, and while the priests hold their hands extended over the person to be ordained the Bishop asks them to unite their prayers with his. "That God will pour out over his servants whom He has chosen for the priesthood the fullness of his heavenly gifts that the office which is imposed upon them through the grace of the Most High might also be administered to them by his divine grace."

After the imposition of hands the Bishop crosses the stole over the breast of the newly ordained priest, saying "Take up the yoke of the Lord, for his yoke is sweet and his burden is light." The priest is then invested with the chasuble and reminded that it represents charity. "For God is mighty to increase in thee His charity and to make perfect thy works." The Holy Ghost is then invoked by the hymn, "Veni Creator." After the first verse has been sung and the choir continues with the remainder of the hymn the Bishop proceeds to anoint the thumb and the index finger of each hand and then the palms of both hands of the priest, after which the Bishop presents to each the chalice with wine and water and the paten with an altar bread, saying "Receive the power to offer sacrifice to God and to celebrate mass as well for the living as for the dead in the name of the Lord."

If you have ever witnessed an ordination you will have observed that the back part of the chasuble of the newly ordained priest is folded in half, and the meaning of this is the following: At ordination the priest is invested with a twofold power, the power to offer the sacrifice of the mass and the power to forgive sins. The first power is given by the first imposition of the hands. The second, although imparted in the first imposition, is nevertheless again expressly and specially conferred by a second imposition which takes place at the end of the mass. The Bishop then says: "Receive the Holy Ghost, whose sins you shall forgive they are forgiven, and whose sins you shall retain they are retained." Then as a sign that the priest is now endowed with the fullness of the sacerdotal power, the chasuble is unfolded and permitted to hang down. The above mentioned are some of the beautiful ceremonies that accompany the conferring of holy orders.

SISTER'S SILVER JUBILEE.

A notable and happy event of the week was the silver jubilee of Sister Mary Andrew, of the Ursuline order, one of the loved teachers at Holy Trinity parochial school, Kentucky and Dupuy streets, celebrated Thursday morning at Holy Trinity church with Levitical high mass. Rev. Father Berresheim, the pastor, was the celebrant, assisted by Rev. Father Thomas, as deacon and Rev. Father Assent as subdeacon. In the afternoon the jubiliarian was tendered an ovation and greeting from the 400 school children and many friends. The celebration will be concluded tomorrow night at Holy Trinity church, when there will be a grand concert by the choir and the girls of the school in honor of Sister Mary Andrew.

COMMENCEMENT.

The Kentucky Irish American has received an invitation from the pastor, Rev. Rudolph C. Ruff, and pupils of St. Patrick's school at Stithton to be present at their first school commencement. Since going to Stithton Father Ruff has done phenomenal work, and especially for the cause of education. The commencement exercises will be held on Thursday morning, June 11, and a number of people from Louisville are expected to attend.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES.

The Committee on Children in the National Conference of Catholic Charities has just announced its program for the next biennial meeting, which takes place at the Catholic University in Washington next September. The program embraces a wide range of subjects, and among the speakers will be James E. Fee, Mrs. John McMahon, Miss Mary Barr, Robert Biggs, Mrs. M. H. Ford, Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, Miss Marie E. Lynch, M. P. Mooney, Mrs. Margaret McGorty, Bernard J. Fagan, Miss Caroline E. Boone and B. A. Seymour, who have had experience in children's work in all the large cities of the country.

COLESBURG.

The engagement of Miss Pearl McMillen and Wilbur French, very popular residents of Colesburg, has been announced. Their marriage will be solemnized next Thursday with a nuptial mass at St. Clare's church, the Rev. Father John Gastaldi officiating.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

The Champions showed some of their class of the past two seasons by decisively winning over the Olympics last Sunday in the Catholic League, the defeat being the first for the latter team. The Bruins' victory over the Knights of Columbus since made it a triple for twin honors between the Champions, Olympics and Bruins, with the Shamrocks only one game behind, having won three straight, and Manager Emmet Hanrahan, of the latter team, predicts that his club will trim the Champions tomorrow when they come together for the first time. The senseless Trinity Council team lost a hard luck game to the Imperials last Sunday, Trinity's pitcher only allowing one hit and striking out sixteen men, but Manager Dan Hennessy says they will be satisfied to win over Manager Burke's Olympic aggregation tomorrow, a large crowd being expected to watch the result of this contest. The standing to date:

Club.	Won	Lost	Pct.
Bruins.	4	1	.800
Olympics.	4	1	.800
Champions.	4	1	.800
Shamrocks.	3	2	.600
Trinity.	2	3	.400
Knights Columbus.	1	4	.200
Imperials.	1	4	.200

RECENT DEATHS.

The funeral of Mrs. Marie Gottbrath, who died at her home, Eighth and Market, on May 23, was held Monday morning from St. Mary's church, where requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Westermann. By her death, which was not unexpected, the family loses a loving wife and mother and St. Mary's a devout parishioner. Hers was a useful life, and in her duties to her family, her neighbor and her God, in her every action she did nobly and well. She is survived by her husband, Henry Gottbrath, and several grown children.

Funeral services over the remains of Joseph E. Rush, who died at the home of his cousin, Robert T. Neal, 2135 High street, were held Monday morning from St. Cecilia's church, attended by many mourning friends and relatives. Five weeks before he was stricken with dropsy, which proved fatal. Besides his cousin, two uncles, Peter and Roger Rush, survive him.

TRIBBLE OF GEORGIA.

There are Representatives in the United States Congress who are as much out of place as an Australian kangaroo would be. One of these, S. J. Tribble, of Georgia, a narrow-minded bigot, objects to the celebration of mass on board the United States warships. Why doesn't this peevish person undertake to establish a law that would exclude Catholics from the ranks of our fighting men, both army and navy?

PONTIFF PRAISES PEACE EFFORTS

At the consistory held at the Vatican on Monday morning Pope Pius created thirteen new Cardinals, and a number of Bishops from various countries also were confirmed in their sees. At the same time official announcement was made of the creation of Monsignor Bell, Patriarch of Lisbon, as Cardinal. His name has been reserved "in petto" at the consistory of 1911. The ceremony, which was accompanied by the brilliance usual on such occasions at the Vatican, was preceded by a short allocution, after which the names of the new Cardinals were announced as follows: Monsignor Louis Lazaire Beghin, Archbishop of Quebec, Canada. Monsignor V. Guisasa y Mendez, Archbishop of Toledo, Spain. Monsignor Democrio Serafini, Assessor of the Congregation of the Holy Office.

Monsignor Della Chiesa, Archbishop of Bologna, Italy. Monsignor John Cernock, Archbishop of Esztergom, Hungary. Monsignor Francis von Bettinger, Archbishop of Munich, Bavaria. Monsignor Felix von Hartmann, Archbishop of Cologne, Germany. Monsignor F. G. Pitti, Archbishop of Vienna, Austria.

Monsignor Philipp Giustini, Secretary of the Congregation of the Sacraments. Monsignor Hector Ireneu Sevin, Archbishop of Lyons, France. Monsignor Michele Lega, Dean of the Tribunal of the Rota. Monsignor Scipio Teschi, Assessor of the Consistorial Congregation. Right Rev. Francis Aidan Gasquet, President of the English Benedictines.

The Pontiff was surrounded by all the members of the Sacred College living in Rome and by those who are now there, including Cardinals Gibbons, Farney and O'Connell. The Pope appointed Cardinal Francis Della Voie to the office of Chamberlain, in which position he will direct the affairs of the church during the convalescence of Cardinal Diomedeo Falconio, formerly Apostolic Delegate to the United States, also was raised to the rank of Chamberlain. The allocation of the Pope was a strong appeal for political and social peace through restoration of religion and the influence of the church. Immediately after the conclusion of the secret consistory the Pontiff visited each of the new Cardinals and handed him his formal notice of appointment.

Cardinal Gasquet, the English Benedictine, delivered an address in which he said he regarded himself as representing Rome not only in England, but Ireland, Wales and Scotland, and "if not altogether too ambitious, I can claim after my recent visit to the United States, to be partly American, as I can count upon the true and affectionate regard of many people in that great republic."

The Pope in the course of his remarks declared his Constantinian jubilee when he said: "The whole world seemed to lift up the Cross of Christ as the sole course of peace and salvation for struggling humanity. Now especially men desire peace when class is against class, nation against nation and people against people, and war may break out as the result of rivalries daily becoming more bitter. Men of distinction and force are planning for their nations and for humanity schemes for preventing the calamities of revolutions and the slaughter of war and for insuring the blessings of peace. This is a noble project, but their schemes will bear little fruit unless they insure that the precepts of justice and Christian charity take deep root in the hearts of men. The assistance of the church as guardian of justice and charity and the mistress of truth is most efficacious for the common weal. It is regrettable that the opposite often occurs, but the church, like Christ, does good and receives injuries in return. The divine help will never fail us. We have Christ for a pledge and history for a witness."

The allocution ended by recalling that 100 years ago Pius VII. triumphantly returned to Rome from captivities and captivity, and was received with the applause of a thousand people. The passage regarding "men of distinction and force planning schemes for preventing the calamities of revolution and the slaughter of war and for insuring the blessings of peace" was generally interpreted as referring to President Wilson's and Secretary Bryan's endeavors to preserve peace.

ENTERTAIN CARDINALS.

The American Cardinals now in Rome, Farley of New York, Gibbons of Baltimore and O'Connell of Boston, are attending a few social functions. Cardinal Farley was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. L. Phillips, of New York. Among the other guests were Abbot Gasquet, the head of the English Benedictines and chief reviser of the Vulgate; Mgr. John Edwards and Mgr. P. J. Hayes, of New York, and Fathers Dolan, White and Langdon. Cardinal Farley, Cardinal Vanutelli and Cardinal Bourne, of Westminster, were the guests of honor at a dinner given by Mrs. Marion Mulhall.

ENJOYED BANQUET.

During his visit here Supreme Trustee Michael Quinn, of the Catholic Knights of America, was honor guest at a sumptuous banquet at the home of Col. and Mrs. Henry Hunold. The table was beautifully decorated and laden with everything that would tempt the epicure. Mrs. Hunold proved a most charming hostess and her hospitality was such as is seldom equaled. Covers were laid for Michael Quinn, of Brooklyn; Chief Tim Lehan, Col. John Score, Ben Kruse, William T. Meehan, Daniel McCarthy, William M. Higgins, S. R. Hardman, Mr. and Mrs. Hand and John Kenny, of Jeffersonville. Mrs. Hunold was charmingly assisted by her daughter, Miss Minnie, and Mrs. Hand.

DELEGATE TO NORFOLK.

At the meeting of the County Board, A. O. H., in Bertrand Hall on Tuesday evening, County President W. J. Connelly, by virtue of his office, was chosen as delegate to the national convention which will be held in Norfolk in July. John J. Barry being chosen as his alternate. John J. Barry, Matt J. O'Brien, Walter J. Cusick and Dan O'Keefe reported that they were making all arrangements for the annual County Board picnic, the exact particulars of which will be announced at the next County Board meeting, which will be held Wednesday evening in Division 3's new club house. The entire proceeds of the picnic will be given to a well known charitable purpose and one in which the members of the board have pledged themselves to work for. President C. J. Ford, of Division 2, explained his long absence from the County Board meeting by stating that he had wandered a year ago not to attend until Ireland had home rule, but from now on he would guarantee a faithful and working representation from his division.

LAYS CORNERSTONE.

The cornerstone of the San Francisco Young Men's Institute and Donahue Library will be laid today by Archbishop Riordan, following religious services at St. Mary's Cathedral. Preceding the laying of the cornerstone the ceremony of "the breaking of the colors" will be held, the magnificent flag presented by the Young Ladies Institute being used for the purpose, and Bishop Hanna will deliver an address. The Young Men's Institute building and Donahue Library is destined to be one of the most interesting buildings in San Francisco. Designed along pure classic lines on the Ionic order, it will take high rank among the city's many splendid structures, and among its fraternal structures will be without a peer. Particularly creditable is it to be to the Catholic people, as it is the most comprehensive Catholic club house in the United States. It is anticipated that the building will be completed about January 1, 1915.

PRAISES LABOR UNIONS.

The past work of labor organizations was praised by Gov. Walsh in an address before the Boston Central Labor Union. In their future work, however, the greatest possibilities are found, he says: "No body of men in Massachusetts today has a higher public service to perform than the trades unions. It is to the credit of organized labor that you have attracted the attention of government to the very fundamentals in government."

SISTERS OF LORETTO.

Next week will mark the golden anniversary of the arrival of the Sisters of Loretto in Colorado and the foundation of St. Mary's Academy in Denver. In honor of the occasion a solemn jubilee high mass will be celebrated in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception next Tuesday. Special invitations have been extended the Alumnae of Loretto Heights and of St. Mary's and to all Loretto girls.

CONFIRMATION.

The Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue will make a visitation to Holy Name church, Third and O, tomorrow evening, and at 7:30 will administer the sacrament of confirmation to a class of fifty children. This will be an event of more than ordinary interest and doubtless the impressive ceremony will be witnessed by a large congregation.

FAIRFIELD WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lilly, of Fairfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Hallie Lilly, to E. R. Bennett, of Taylorsville. The wedding will take place June 3 at St. Michael's church in Fairfield. The contracting parties have a wide circle of friends, and their marriage will be one of the season's big society events in that section of the State.

FIELD MASS.

At the League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia, by permission of the Secretary of the Navy Daniels, a military field mass will be celebrated tomorrow in honor of the departed soldiers, sailors and marines of the nation. The mass will be under the auspices of the Army and Navy Union, U. S. A., Department of Pennsylvania, and other military and patriotic societies.

CANDIDATES FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

A new angle was given to the mixup in the United States Senatorial race when Gen. Bennett H. Young announced Thursday that he would be a candidate in the August primary for the short term, caused by the death of Senator Bradley, and if nominated and elected would serve from the election in November until March, 1915, while the appointee of Gov. McCreary will also have a four months' term, the appointment to be made in the next several days and to serve from June until the November election. It has been suggested that the Governor could simplify the situation by appointing Gen. Young for the first four months, and it is believed that this will be done if Johnson Camden refuses the appointment, which has been tendered him by the Governor. Then again if Mr. Camden accepts the appointment hard sledding is in sight for the Beckham candidacy for the long term, as a combination of McCreary for the long term and Camden for the short term would be hard to beat, as the Camden bank roll and influence would make short shrift of the Haley methods, which consist of hypocritical efforts to achieve success through the espousal of the prohibition cause. In the event that Camden does not offer the combination of Gov. McCreary and Gen. Young will have the united support of the old Confederates, who are a strong factor in Democratic circles.

It is the belief generally that the Beckham boom is waning, especially since the death of John C. C. Mayo, who was expected to furnish the sinews of war for the Beckham cause, and that all is not so rosy as claimed by the Evening Post, is evidenced from the following in the Shelby Record:

There are "wheels within wheels" and the persistence with which the Louisville Post and Herald, the Harrodsburg Leader and other Republican newspapers are interesting themselves, and advocating Mr. Beckham for the Democratic nomination for Senator, is "a little bit" suspicious. Their hope to elect a Republican Senator lies in the selection of a weak Democratic nominee at the general election.

The above, referring to the Post as a Republican paper, is a little unkind when it is conceded that the Post made the leading fight among the dailies for the success of the Wilson ticket in 1912 and the local Democratic ticket last year, which fact seems to have slipped Editor Shinnick's mind, but he is certainly striking a popular chord in figuring Beckham as a weak Democratic nominee in the general election.

Although a little early, two or three prospective candidates are in the field for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Clerk next year, Magistrate Dacher, Robert Kaltenbacher, John H. Page and Henry Bell being prominently mentioned. The first three being pretty sure starters, while it is a little doubtful about Bell's entrance, he having received pretty nearly every gift in the Democratic party, and as the last election showed, new and young men are the keynote for continued success of the party.

EXCURSION.

The excursion to be given on June 14 by the Catholic Knights of Louisville to Hawesville, Cannelton and Tell City is attracting much attention. Tell City Knights are arranging for a hearty reception for the visitors, who will meet there with interest and entertain them. At the committee meeting Tuesday night it was reported that many had already arranged to take the trip and that its success was already assured. The train will leave the Tenth-street station at 7:45 a. m., and the round fare will be $1.65. There will also be in Tell City that day large delegations of Catholic Knights from Evansville, Jasper and other Indiana cities.

GOES TO BUFFALO.

John X. Kinsberger, of whom there is no more popular young railroad man in Louisville, leaves today to accept the position of traveling freight agent for the Big Four road at Buffalo, his ability in that line while working as assistant freight agent here having been recognized, and he received the promotion with a large increase in salary attached. We will all miss "Jimmy's" smiling countenance, but he goes to his new location with the best wishes of his host of local friends and admirers.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

The Forty Hours' prayer in this city begins tomorrow at St. Peter Claver's church. They will open with the high mass tomorrow morning and continue until Tuesday.

IRELAND'S PEACEFUL VICTORY.

After a struggle lasting for over a century, during which her people have withstood oppression and persecution inflicted upon no other country, Ireland has won her fight for freedom and home rule. The third passage in the House of Commons of the home rule bill gives back to Ireland the Parliament she lost through treachery, and lovers of self-government throughout the world rejoice with Ireland today. Especially in America, whose laws establish and whose political convictions uphold the principles of federation and local self-government, this victory for home rule will be approved as a victory for justice and for progress. That is why the American public has given its sympathy and moral support to the struggle of the Irish through long years. In this hour of triumph special praise and congratulation should be given to the leader of the Nationalist party, John Redmond, a man of whom any party might be proud, a statesman of exceptional ability and a true patriot. What the brilliant and devoted but unhappy Parnell failed to attain, it has been given to Redmond and his able associates to accomplish for his cause. Ireland is fortunate that when her own Parliament once more looks down on College Green there will be men of the breadth and character and proved loyalty shown by Redmond and his colleagues to shape and guide the work of the reborn government. Only civil war can cheat Irish nationalism now of victory, but despite the militant spirit of Carson and the Tory leaders of England it is believed that the Nationalist policy will be such as to avoid civil violence and provide guarantees to Ulster that will give Ireland lasting peace and prosperity without abating the triumph of home rule in any degree.

SENATOR BRADLEY.

All Kentucky and the nation mourns the death of her brilliant son, William O'Connell Bradley, whose remains now repose peacefully in Frankfort. The news of his death was a shock to the entire State, and from all sides came expressions of sorrow and regret. As Henry Waterson expressed it, Senator Bradley was sprung from a branch of that great line which gave to Ireland its mightiest orator and he possessed many of the characteristics of that extraordinary man. Certainly in persuasive powers no Kentuckian of his time could approach him before an audience of Kentuckians. He had eloquence and humor and common sense. That he became Governor and Senator—the two most coveted gifts the people have to bestow—in a State where his party was in a woeful minority attests his genius and resources as a party leader. His fidelity to his personal associates, his political following and his public duty were conspicuous and constant. He lived through trying times and whose undimmed to the last.

SISTERS IN CONVENTS.

The Sisters in our convents, although they have given up many things, including the use of their family names, to follow their divine vocation, are not unknown to us, asserts the Catholic Columbian. They have taken a new name in the sisterhood to identify themselves with it. But they remain our dear daughters just the same. They are our kin, our flesh and blood, the flowers of the flock, the most innocent and the most willing to make sacrifices for Christ's sake. Those who attack the Sisters in our convents attack us, Catholic parents, just as if they had accused the daughters who still remain in our homes. All the world knows that Catholics love holy purity better than any other people on earth. Official statistics prove it. Daily experience shows it. The hundreds of thousands of girls and young women who are being educated in convent academies come into close contact with the Sisters, see their lives familiarly, and know them intimately by word and deed. What is the result? The girls love their teachers and look up to them as visible guardian angels. When they grow up, get married and have daughters of their own, they are eager to put their darlings into the safe care of the Sisters and give them the benefit of a training in the Christian life such as they themselves received. Isn't that true? Isn't that proof of what lives the Sisters lead? Moreover, such is the reputation of our convent schools that many Protestant and Jewish parents send their daughters to them, sure that the Sisters will watch over their innocence while teaching them those studies that a gentlewoman should go through. Our convents are the abodes of virtue, grace and peace. They have Jesus in them in the Holy Eucharist. He is the bread from heaven that gives strength to the soul. He is the wine that makes virgins.

COULD SPARE THEM.

Rev. J. S. Lyons, one of our local ministers, delivered a bitter tirade in the Presbyterian Assembly the other day on what he termed was "the pernicious activity of the Roman Catholic church in politics." This is pretty good, coming from one who has always been quick to air his views and opinions in the different local political campaigns, and to the outside layman certainly appeared like "pernicious political activity" on Dr. Lyons' part, but men of his type and Minister M. P. Hunt drop their pretense of Christian principles when an opportunity is given to create feeling and antagonism against the people of Catholic faith.

CHEER OLD GLORY.

In Baltimore they are making great preparations for the centennial celebration of the Star Spangled Banner. It is significant that the "English led" and "English ruled" press of our country is silent about the event. They are devoting columns to the Anglo-American peace centenary, but nary a word about the other and more important affair. Let all Americans bestir themselves. See to it that Star Spangled Banner week, beginning September 6, will be a patriotic demonstration second to none held in the United States.

ANY OLD EXCUSE.

The entire crop of A. P. A. organs, like the Menace, Peril, American Citizen, Yellow Jacket and Watson's Magazine, are unanimous in declaring that the Mexican trouble is hatched by the Jesuits, which is the preliminary excuse for their chief supporters, the Junior Order, not to go to the front in case of trouble, but this is not surprising to the general public, who know the Juniors as leading defenders of the flag—in times of peace.

SAFE GAMBLING.

The only safe way to bet, and for which you will not be indicted, is to wager that the reckless automobilist who murders will go scot free.

Before the Presbyterian Educational Conference, in session at Kansas City, the Rev. T. S. Clyce, President of Austin College at Sherman, Texas, branded Andrew Carnegie as an atheist who controls the educational system in the United States, and declared that "State institutions which say they are sorry they can not teach religion in the class rooms are slaves of the almighty dollar." This is but another convincing argument for Catholic education, which teaches love for God and country and the moral life.

The True Voice notes that four years ago Italy undertook to hold a great international exposition. Ernesto Nathan was permitted to advertise it as an anti-Catholic institution and to use it as an occasion for making insulting speeches against the venerable Father of Christendom. Catholics stayed away from Rome that year and the exposition was a flat failure. The managers of the San Francisco exposition next year are inviting a similar experience. It will not be Nathan's fault if they escape failure.

The movement, instituted by the Knights of Columbus of Kentucky, the sending of missionaries into communities where Catholics are few to preach the gospel of Christ and explain the doctrines of the church, has attracted widespread attention and commendation. This is a great work, and the Knights of other States are being urged to follow the example of their Kentucky brethren.

There is still another week of Easter time. Let it not pass by without you having received the sacrament that may prove your saving and eternal happiness.

SINGLE WOMEN.

Only 19.5 per cent. of the women in this country over twenty-one years of age are single.

DEVOTION.

Deep as the corals cradled in the sea,
And deeper still is this strange mystery
Of pure devotion which enshrines my soul
And crowns thee with a thornless aureole.

So like the orient star thy soul arose
On mystic wings of light that throbs and glows,
Rending the veil of darkness from mine eyes,
Revealing amethystine purities.

How like the winter shall thine absence be!
And like a broken lute thy memory,
Through many holy and obsequious tears
I gaze down the vista of dark years.

I saw thee last wreathed with the helichry,
Mid tapers dying with the jessamine's kiss;
A threnody now haunts the echoing past
And stills to stone my soul that stands aghast.

O, Christ, whose blood streams through the firmament,
I bend unto thy will obediently
And weep beside thy tomb, death's shadowy gauze.
Rabboni, speak and fill the aching pause.
Julia King.

POWERS

Granted Irish Parliament by Provisions of the Home Rule Bill.

Senate Will Have Forty Members and House of Commons 164.

Appeal From the Courts in Ireland to House of Lords Abolished.

MUST MEET ONCE EACH YEAR

The home rule bill provides for an Irish Senate of forty members and an Irish House of Commons of 164 members. Forty-two members will be sent by Ireland to the House of Commons of the United Kingdom.

The Irish Parliament may not legislate on peace nor war, on any naval or military matter, on foreign relations or trade with places out of Ireland, coinage or legal tender, or postal services, and may not give preference or privilege on account of religious belief.

Temporary restrictions are placed on legislation concerning land purchase, old age pensions, national insurance, labor exchanges, the royal Irish constabulary, postal and other savings banks and friendly societies.
The executive power remains vested in the King and his representative, the Lord Lieutenant.

While the supreme power of the Imperial Parliament remains unaffected, the new Irish Parliament is given the power to make laws for the peace and order and good government of the country. The House of Commons is given special rights in tax matters.

The bill specifically exempts the following matters from the authority of the Irish Parliament: The crown, or its succession; the making of peace or war; the navy, the army, or the defense of the realm; treaties or foreign relations; dignities or titles; treason, alienage or naturalization; trade with any place out of Ireland, except as it affects the powers of taxation of Parliament;
postal services and rates; coinage,
legal tender, weights and measures;
trade marks, copyrights and patents;
customs duties unless already levied by imperial act.

The rate of the income tax may not be varied.
Establishment, prohibition or free exercise, or privilege of any religion.
If a resolution is passed by both houses of the Irish Parliament the following reserved services may be transferred to Ireland after six years: All public service connected with the old age pensions act; services connected with the national insurance act; services connected with the labor exchanges act; services connected with Postoffice savings banks, trustee savings banks and friendly societies.

The direction of the Royal Irish Constabulary is arbitrarily transferred to the Irish Parliament after six years.
The Irish Parliament shall meet at least once a year, when called by the Lord Lieutenant. The latter shall give or withhold the assent of His Majesty to bills passed by Parliament.

The forty Senators will be chosen from the four provinces and according to the principle of proportional representation. In a constituency which returns three or more members to the House of Commons the election shall also be held on the proportional principle. Both Senators and members of the house are chosen for five year terms.

Bills appropriating revenue or money, or imposing taxation, shall originate only in the Irish House of Commons. The Lord Lieutenant is authorized to recommend such legislation to the house. The Senate may not reject any bill which deals only with taxation or appropriations of money, and may not amend such a bill as to increase any burden on the people. If the two houses of Parliament fail to agree on any bill the Lord Lieutenant may convene a joint sitting of the two houses.

The powers, privileges and immunities of members of the Irish Parliament shall be the same as those of the House of Commons of the United Kingdom.
The Lord Lieutenant, as the King's representative, is given the power to administer the various Irish departments to be established.
He will appoint Ministers to head the departments, and these shall become councillors, and if they serve longer than six months, members of one of the houses of the Irish Parliament.

There shall be an Irish exchequer and an Irish consolidated fund separate from those of the United Kingdom. The proceeds of taxes levied in Ireland will be paid into the Imperial exchequer, but out of this fund there will be paid a sum which will pay for the Governmental services performed by Ireland.

The Irish Parliament may vary the levy of any Imperial tax in Ireland and impose independent taxes.
It may not charge a customs duty on an article not already taxed by the empire, and may not interfere with special taxes imposed by the Imperial Parliament.
Where a customs duty is levied in one country and not in the other, or is levied in both countries but at different rates, duty shall be charged and drawback allowed in respect of articles imported.

For the purposes of the financial provisions of the act there shall be established a joint exchequer board, composed of representatives of Irish and Imperial treasuries.

The judicial system of Ireland is not changed materially. Upon the retirement or death of a Judge, the place shall be filled by the Lord Lieutenant. The appeal from courts in Ireland to the House of Lords is abolished. Appeals will be made to the King in council and to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

MISSION

Where Confirmation Was First
Administered in Empire
State.

Occupied Site on Which the City of Ogdensburg Now Stands.

Famous Sulpician Father Who Had Great Influence Over Indians.

ENGLISH SET PRICE ON HIS HEAD

By James A. Rooney.

In connection with the early history of the church in the State of New York it is interesting to note that the sacrament of confirmation was administered for the first time within its borders at the Mission of the Presentation by the Right Rev.
Henri Marie Dubreuil de Port-briand, Bishop of Quebec, in 1752, one hundred and sixty-two years ago.

This mission was founded by the Rev. Father Francois Piquet, a famous Sulpician missionary, on June 1, 1749, as noted in our Catholic chronology, and it occupied the site of the present city of Ogdensburg, now the episcopal see of a diocese with a Catholic population of about 100,000. The cornerstone of Father Piquet's modest mission chapel is still to be seen at Ogdensburg, inserted in the wall over the door of the city arsenal, and it bears the following inscription:

In Nomine Dei Omnipotentis Huic
Habitationali Initia Dedit Frans Piquet, 1749.

Father Piquet had a remarkable career among the Indians. Born in France, he became a Sulpician and was ordained April 10, 1724, and he at once set out for Canada in the French man-of-war Ruby, having for his fellow passengers the Right Rev.
Pierre Herman Desquet, the fourth Bishop of Quebec, and a young Jesuit, Father Jean Pierre Aulneau de la Touche, who was afterward murdered by the Sioux. Arriving at Montreal in July he spent the first fifteen years of his missionary life among the Canadian Indians and became such a master of their language that he surpassed their ablest orators and won large numbers of them to the faith.

In 1749 he volunteered to establish the Mission of the Presentation and with that as his headquarters he labored among the neighboring tribes for the following eleven years. He built a chapel and his mission became Fort Presentation.
In it he gathered about 3,000 converted Indians and 132 of them were confirmed by Bishop Portbriand, the last French Bishop of Quebec, in 1752.

In the wars between the French and the English he led his Indians against the latter, whom he looked upon as much the enemies of the church as of France, and for six years he accompanied them on their marches and was with them in their battles, and he was so beloved by them and his influence was so great that the French Governor Duquesne said that Abbe Piquet was as good as several regiments. On the defeat of Montcalm on the plains of Abraham the English set a price upon his head and he retired to Acadia, escaping thence to France by way of New Orleans. There he exercised his ministry in Paris and in his native city of Bourges, where he was made Canon of the Cathedral, his position he held until his death at the age of seventy-three years, in 1781.—Copyrighted.

UPHOLDS LAW FOR WOMEN.

The Supreme Court of the United States has sustained the right of Massachusetts to limit the hours of work for women to ten a day, under the reserved police powers of the State. The theory that the individual's right to contract could be extended to a denial of the State's right to protect the health and strength of its women and children was one that avarice nourished and reason and humanity abhorred.

MORE MEAT.

Although the gross area of our national forests at the beginning of 1914 is almost a million acres less for grazing purposes than at the beginning of 1913, figures just made public by the Secretary of Agriculture show that for the current year there will be an increase of about 38,000 more cattle and horses and 347,000 more sheep and goats.

VOTERS IN IRELAND.

The number of voters in Ireland this year is 698,095, a decrease of 3,525 as compared with 1913. The decrease is in the county constituencies, there being 598 more voters in the boroughs than last year.
The voters in occupation of qualifying premises form 96 per cent. of the electorate, as against 84 per cent. in England and Wales and 76 per cent.
in Scotland.

ESCALLOPED CUCUMBERS.

Pare and slice thin two large cucumbers. Put in baking dish alternate layers of cucumbers and cracker crumbs; add salt, pepper and dots of butter to each layer.
Moisten well with water. Bake three-quarters of an hour in moderately hot oven. This will serve six people.

LETTUCE PUREE.

Lettuce cooked and put through a strainer, to be served on toast, for thinning to make a cream of lettuce soup, or for putting into molds for no end of garnishes, can be cooked either in meat stock or water, steamed gently in these. The secret of cooking lettuce is to cook it gently.

What the Club Plan Is And What It Means to You

The Club Plan is an extended payment plan instituted purely and simply for the convenience of our patrons who wish to buy Household Goods, such as Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, etc.

When you join the Club Plan you are asked to pay 3 per cent of the amount of your purchases for joining; for instance

The membership fee on a $25.00 purchase would be 75c.

The membership fee on a $50.00 purchase would be $1.50.

The membership fee on greater purchases would of course be in proportion.

You are then asked to pay 10 per cent. of your total purchase as the first payment. For instance, on a $25.00 purchase you pay $2.50 down in addition to the membership fee, making a total of $3.25. The goods are then delivered to you and you arrange to pay the balance in small weekly or monthly payments.

When you consider that goods bought on the Club Plan are purchased at our cash prices—whether special or regular—you will more clearly see that our membership fee is nothing in comparison with the additional cost installment houses place on their goods for the privilege of time payments.

FURNITURE, CARPETS, RUGS, HOUSE FURNISHINGS AND OTHER HOUSEHOLD GOODS ARE SOLD ON THE CLUB PLAN.

Any further information regarding the Club Plan will be cheerfully given by our salespeople or at the Credit office on the fifth floor.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary now numbers 70,000 members.

A new auxiliary has been organized at Woodland, Maine.

The National Hibernian advocates the consolidation of small and scattered divisions.

Division 1 meets Tuesday night, and it is interesting that every member be present.

Philadelphia will be represented by thirty-one delegates at the Norfolk convention.

The Ancient Order has a larger membership in the United States than in Ireland.

Recently a class of thirty young men were initiated into the division at Greensburg, Pa.

Pittsburgh Hibernians look for 40,000 people at their annual reunion and field day.

The order has spread rapidly in Armagh, Ireland, and few parishes are without a division.

There were 150 candidates in the last class initiated into the Milwaukee Ladies' Auxiliary.

Divisions everywhere throughout the country have arranged for special observance of Memorial day.

Since the beginning of the year Ladies' Auxiliary 30 of Philadelphia has taken in forty new members.

Division 3 extends an invitation to all Hibernians to attend the first meeting in the new home Monday night.

Ladies' Auxiliary 2 of San Francisco has made fine progress this year. Its membership has more than doubled.

New members are being constantly received into the division at Ontario, Can., where an auxiliary is being organized.

Next Thursday night will occur the regular meeting of Division 2. The officers appeal to all the members to attend.

Through the western counties and Southern Ireland the Ancient Order is making marked gains in strength and influence.

The two Ladies' Auxiliaries of Columbus, Ohio, visited St. Dominic's church last Sunday and received holy communion in a body.

The Ancient Order baseball team in the Catholic League of Indianapolis leads in the race, having won the three first games.

Congressman Gallivan, of Boston, is the latest member of the Ancient Order to take his seat in the National House of Representatives.

The National Secretary of the order in Ireland has been visiting the divisions throughout Ulster and reports their progress highly satisfactory.

Two hundred members and many invited guests were present at the banquet with which Division 1 of Buffalo celebrated its twenty-fourth anniversary.

John O'Dea has made another call for material for the history of the order. Local historians can contribute much that would add to the value of this great work.

The Ladies' Auxiliary meeting Wednesday night will be interesting. Numerous reports will be made and communications from the national officers presented for consideration.

Prof. Michael G. Rohan, Chairman of the Irish History Committee, makes an everlasting impression on all who hear his historical review of Ireland from the invasion of the Danes down to the present time.

Rev. William T. McLoughlin, National Director, witnessed the conferring of the fourth degree on a class of 100 at a recent meeting of Division 7 of Jersey City. The State and county officers were also present.

PRECONIZED.

Among the American Catholic Bishops appointed by brief who were preconized at Monday's consistory in Rome were: Monsignor Henry Althoff, nominated Bishop of Belleville, Ill.; Monsignor Edward Kozlowski, Auxiliary Bishop of Milwaukee; the Right Rev. Michael J. Curley, Bishop of St. Augustine, and the Right Rev. J. M. Koudelka, Bishop of Superior, Wis.

RIVERVIEW.

Riverview's many improvements, together with the warm weather of the past week, have stirred the interest of the many patrons of that popular resort, who find here an idea spot to spend both the afternoon and evening in real comfort, with a clear view of the beautiful scenery up and down the Ohio. The dancing hall has already won special favor, the pleasing music under the direction of Prof. Shane contributing largely to its popularity. Another popular attraction is the free outdoor musical every evening, which can be heard by patrons of the dining hall. Women and children also visit Riverview and bring their baskets along, as the park has practically been converted into a playground and picnic spot. A feature of the park this year is the "Spotless Kitchen," run in connection with the restaurant.

A Sister Recommends It Most Highly. 3

Kewaskum, Wis., August, 1913. Many of the Sisters are using Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic. I tried one bottle for nervousness and sleeplessness, and noticed not alone a marked improvement in my sleep, but felt much better since, therefore recommend the Tonic most highly to all those suffering similarly.

Dr. M. Alacoue. Helen G. McLaughlin, of Overy, N. Dak., says that Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic is certainly an excellent Nerve Tonic, because she was badly run down from nervousness and sleeplessness, but after taking the Tonic her nerves became stronger and she slept well.

Rev. J. Riley, of Seymour, Ind., says he took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic for sleeplessness, of which he suffered since 14 years. Since then he sleeps good and recommends the Tonic to all needing it for that purpose.

AMERICAN CHRONOLOGY.

Timely Record of Some Memorable Events in the Catholic History of America.

By James A. Rooney.

May 31, 1823—After a six weeks' journey from Whitmarsh, Md., Fathers Charles Van Quickenborne, S. J., with F. J. Van Assche, Pierre-Jean De Smet, P. J. Verhaeghe, J. A. Ellet, F. L. V. de Maillat, all Jesuit novices, and three lay brothers, arrived at St. Louis on invitation of Bishop Dubourg and opened Indian Seminary at Florissant, later taking charge of St. Louis College, now St. Louis University.

June 1, 1749—Founding by the famous Sulpician missionary, Father Francois Pequet, of an Indian post on the Presentation river, which afterward became the Fort of the Presentation, from which originated the city of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

June 2, 1861—Second Provincial Council convened by Archbishop Hughes in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York; attended by the Bishops of Hartford, Portland, New-Archie, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Boston and Albany, and the Bishops of Guadalajara and San Luis Potosi.

June 3, 1848—Six Sisters of Charity from Baltimore arrived in Buffalo, N. Y., on invitation of Bishop John Timon, C. M.; three to take charge of St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum and three to take charge of the Buffalo hospital.

June 4, 1844—Fathers Jean E. Darveau, missionary to the Saulteaux Indians of Northern Manitoba, murdered by renegade natives when about to establish a permanent mission at Le Pas.

June 5, 1825—Rule of the Oblate Sisters of Providence approved by Archbishop Maréchal, of Baltimore; founded by the Rev. James Hector Nicholas Joubert de la Mauraille, with Sisters Elizabeth Lange, Frances Balas, Mary Bouques and Mary Teresa Duchemin as the first members of the community.

June 6, 1800—The Right Rev. Leo Raymond de Neckere, C. M., fourth Bishop of New Orleans, born in Belgium; ordained at St. Louis, October 13, 1822; consecrated May 16, 1830; dedicated St. Patrick's church, April 21, 1833; died of cholera contracted while ministering to its victims, September 5, 1833.—Copyrighted.

DOUBLE HEADER TODAY.

Louisville and their old time rivals, the Indianapolis club, will meet again this afternoon in the first double-header of the season on account of the holiday, the first game being called at 1:30 o'clock. A single game tomorrow will close the series. Next Monday and Tuesday the Colonels will play Cleveland here, these games being transferred on account of a conflict in dates with the American League, but the other two games of the series will be played in Cleveland, these being the first of the club's long swing away from home, not returning to Eclipse Park until June 30. To the great disappointment of the fans the showing of the team on its home grounds is far from what was expected, and despite the injuries to Beumiller and McLarry the lineup was stronger than that of either Kansas City, St. Paul or Minneapolis, our catching and pitching staffs being easily best in the association, while the rest of the players from a hitting and fielding standpoint are second to none. The fans to a man are hearty supporters of Owner Wathen and his liberal policy, but do not believe the team is putting forth their best efforts through some unknown cause. Councilman Thomas Dolan will introduce a resolution at the meeting of the General Council Tuesday night to pave "Baseball alley" with asphalt, this being sure to meet with the popular approval of the many fans who use that thoroughfare.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

J. B. Hayden, of Ballinasloe, was appointed Coroner for East Galway by twenty-one votes to seven for Dr. Egan, of Killaan.

The Board of Trade has granted a provisional order sanctioning the scheme of the Lurgan Council for the electric lighting of the town.

Mrs. Kate Sheridan, Kilmaleck, died in the County Cavan Infirmary, where she was under treatment for extensive burns caused through her apron catching fire.

Much regret is felt throughout County Kilkenny at the death of William Deady, proprietor of Jerrypoint Mills, Tinnstown. He was also an extensive cattle dealer and farmer.

At a public meeting held in the square, Castlecomer, a corps of the National Volunteers was formed. Over 150 names were enrolled and a membership of 500 is expected before the end of the month.

The Kilkishen demesne, which has been the scene of many cattle drives, has been sold to the Estates Commissioners by the owner, Mr. Studdert. The land will be divided among the uneconomic holders of the district.

Kenmare Guardians elected Dr. Joseph Horgan medical officer of the union. At the meeting of the Rural District Council Dr. Randal McCarroll was elected superintendent medical officer of health, in room of Dr. Mayberry, resigned.

The Rev. J. A. Heavey, Prior, O. S. A., New Ross, has just been appointed to succeed the late Most Rev. Dr. Murray, Bishop of Ossus, Queensland. Father Heavey, who is a Wexford man, was very popular during his sojourn in New Ross.

At a recent meeting of the Ballina Guardians an application was read from the local branch of the National Volunteers asking for the use of the Workhouse grounds for drilling purposes. On motion the application was granted unanimously.

The Rev. Jeremiah O'Gorman, of Patrickswell, has been appointed parish priest of Manister, in succession to the late Rev. Father Fitzgerald. Father O'Gorman for a time was administrator at Bruree. He served for some fifteen years in Patrickswell.

The contest in the East ward of Sligo Borough, rising from the vacancy caused by the death of Alderman Daniel O'Donnell, ex-Mayor, resulted in Thomas H. Fitzgerald being returned by 240 votes against 157 recorded for his opponent, James Collier.

A farmer named Cornelius Cronin, aged about sixty, a native of Coomkeen, in the Durrus district, was found drowned in the sea at Bantry, Co. Cork, on his way to Cork, and after engaging lodgings, left saying he was going for a walk round the strand, and did not return.

Upward of 1,500 people were present at a meeting held at Keash, near Ballymore, for the purpose of forming a corps of the Irish National Volunteers, and the proceedings were of the most enthusiastic nature. Rev. P. J. O'Grady presided. At the close of the meeting about 500 men were enrolled in the new corps.

FONTAINE FERRY.

Beautiful summer weather and a series of fine attractions brought crowds of record-breaking size to Fontaine Ferry during the week just past. With similar conditions in prospect the big amusement resort will doubtless be taxed to capacity at times during the coming week. Comment is general that "The Park Beautiful" appears more attractive than ever this season. The vaudeville bill for next week is composed entirely of headline attractions, notably Madge Mailand, whose "Come All Ye" never fails to provoke riots of laughter. In the open-air concert Natiello's band will introduce an entire new and varied programme. Featured are several melodies of brand new "song hits" and scores from new comic opera successes.

RECOVERING.

Capt. William T. McAtee, for twenty-five years one of the most popular passenger conductors on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, has almost entirely recovered from an illness that confined him to his home, 526 West Oak street, for the past ten days. The last report was that he would soon be able to again make his regular run. Capt. McAtee is the father of Attorney Camden R. McAtee.

MINISTER EGAN STRUCKEN.

Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, American Minister to Denmark, was taken seriously ill on Monday in Washington. Dr. Egan came from Copenhagen recently for a vacation and to lecture through the South and West. He was to be the guest of the Scandinavian American Society at New York on May 28. All of his engagements were canceled on account of his condition.
